

The Smiles are Wide in Rural Colorado, and so are the Teaching Opportunities!

LOOKING FOR EXCEPTIONAL INDIVIDUALS WHO ASPIRE TO CHANGE LIVES THROUGH TEACHING

Aspiring teachers, current teachers, and individuals interested in becoming teachers—with a desire to become an integral part of a close-knit rural school and community—are invited to participate in the Experience Rural Colorado Teacher Recruitment Events. These two-day, hands-on immersion experiences will allow you to learn about teaching opportunities in south central Colorado. Come and engage with school leaders, teachers, students, and community members through classroom activities, professional development, school and community tours, and face-to-face meetings to learn about rural Colorado: its lifestyle, traditions, and history.

The Colorado Rural Education Collaborative, in partnership with Colorado State University-Pueblo and the South Central Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES), is offering two recruitment immersion events this fall. Get to know two small rural communities in southern Colorado, La Veta or Manzanola, both of which offer competitive salaries, an active outdoor lifestyle, and a sense of community.

Join us for one of these recruitment events to be considered for open teaching and student teaching positions for the 2016-17 school year and beyond, as well as a free professional development opportunity at Share Fair Nation in Pueblo, CO on October 28, 2016. More details upon registration.
